DETAILS

Charities are under the spotlight as never before, public attention has been drawn to charitable spending and there has been critical comment in the media and this has undoubtedly had a negative impact on public trust of the sector. The accounts and in particular the Trustees Annual Report present an opportunity to regain some trust with open and transparent reporting, to inform and explain strategy, the successes and impact in delivering against objectives and explaining the public benefit.

Join Helen Furneaux from Stephens Scown and Jon Mashen from Lang Bennetts for this informative breakfast seminar:

Part 1

Making sure your accounts tell your story – don't just tick boxes! This session aims to explore the elements and pitfalls of reporting.

Part 2

Working Together to achieve more. This session looks at how charities can collaborate to achieve more and the legal frameworks available.
